Wireless mesh networks in post-fiber era

Mitar Milutinović

wlan slovenija – 27. marec 2012

Initial motivation.

Internet access where it was no
before/not good enough/too expensive.

Geeks.

Status.

Internet is (in some countries) getting more and more accessible.

Fiber.

Communities.

Getting smaller.

Have to rethink their motivations.

Slovenia.

We started in such era.

A lot of fiber to home, cheap.

Turned story around:

If you have Internet – Share it!

You can open your wireless network!

Of course it helps also where there is no Internet.

You can open your wireless network!

- ① What if somebody uses my whole Internet link?
- ② What if somebody misuses the Internet link, my IP?
- ③ What if somebody hacks my computer?

Radiation.

We know this problems. We solved them.

Aha. OK. Then ...

Even more!

"Network Slovenia in one day."

125.000 people participating.

Of 2 million population.

This year global.

Can we do it?

Slovenia can be a great (social) testbed.
